MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence

FROM: John F. Blake
Deputy Director for Administration

SUBJECT: Quotas for the Armed Forces Schools

REFERENCE: DCI's Handwritten Note to the DDCI on Letter from General Antonelli

1. Action Requested: This memorandum requests your support in securing the Director's concurrence concerning the quotas for CIA attendance at senior armed forces schools.

2. Background: On 5 August 1976 you gave approval for the Director of Training to negotiate with the three senior service schools for increasing FY 1977 student quotas. As a result of the negotiations, the Army and Naval War Colleges increased CIA's quota by one slot each, but the Air War College was not able to increase our student quota at that time. With the revised quotas, the Training Selection Board subsequently nominated students for courses which will commence in September 1977 as follows:

College

Quota

SUBJECT: Quotas for the Armed Forces Schools

Except for the Air War College and ICAF, the schools have been advised of the Agency's nominations.

3. The Director's note to you on the attached letter to him from the Commandant of ICAF indicates he would prefer one CIA attendee in the National War College and in each of the three service schools and no attendance in the ICAF class.

4. Staff Position: In response to his comment, the Training Selection Board met on 14 April 1977 to reconsider the Agency's requirements. The Board believes the following reasons support continuation of the current program:

a. DDO personnel under cover are extremely limited in opportunities to attend other senior government schools.

b. The relevance of the subject matter covered by the armed forces colleges to the intelligence work of DDI and DDS&T analysts is high. Not only does it strengthen their ability to analyze military information, but their participation gives credibility to the product as many analysts do not have a military background. There is almost no other way for them to acquire this training and military background which often has such a direct bearing on the Agency's intelligence product.

c. DDA personnel acquire a better understanding of the U.S. military services that is often so important in their work in such fields as communications, logistics, and administration.

d. Attendance in the Industrial College of the Armed Forces is a particularly important program. The technical and economic training at ICAF is especially appropriate for personnel from the Offices of Logistics, Finance, Economic Research, Strategic Research, and the National Photographic Interpretation Center.

SUBJECT: Quotas for the Armed Forces Schools

5. Recommendation: I support the Training Selection Board's affirmation of the value of these courses and encourage retaining the quotas as currently established. This Directorate is particularly interested in retaining CIA attendance at ICAF. Accordingly, it is recommended that you advise the Director of the above and seek his concurrence to retain current FY 1977 quotas in the armed forces schools.

John F. Blake

Admiral Stansfield Turner, U.S. Navy
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Admiral Turner:

The Industrial College has again been authorized by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to offer a limited number of student spaces in its 1977-78 Class to executives from the various departments and agencies of the Federal Government. We value very highly participation by agencies outside the Department of Defense which these student spaces make possible, and only regret that the number is so small.

It is a pleasure to invite you to nominate one candidate from your Agency to attend the College during the 1977-78 academic year.

To assist you in the selection of personnel to attend the course, attached is a copy of the criteria used by the Department of Defense. These criteria have been carefully framed on the basis of long experience, with a view to bringing us civilian students who not merely meet our formal course requirements, but who can derive maximum benefit from their ten-month participation in our program.

The important word here is participation. A key part of the learning process at the College is the exchange of ideas, knowledge, and experience among 218 individuals, military and civilian, representing many agencies and functional activities. What gives this exchange direction and meaning is the common ground, shared by all students, of interest, experience, and career potential pointed toward future high-level positions of trust in the national security structure. For civilian students, we feel it is especially important that each nominee be an individual already earmarked by his agency as one of the career executives expected to guide its fortunes in future years.

Admiral Stansfield Turner, U.S. Navy

Registration for the 1977-78 academic year is scheduled for mid-August 1977 and the course will last until mid-June 1978. We would appreciate receiving your nomination by 30 April 1977, to include a personal history of sufficient substance to permit evaluation of the nominee. Clearance for access to Top Secret information is required.

If you have any questions, I would be pleased to discuss them with you. Queries of an administrative nature may be directed by your staff to my Chief of Staff or our Administrator, whose telephone numbers are respectively 693-8001 and 693-8305.

I believe the participation of your Agency in our program will be mutually beneficial to all concerned, and I look forward to the association.

Sincerely yours,

THEODORE ANTONELLI
Major General, U.S. Army

CRITERIA FOR SELECTION OF CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE FOR ATTENDANCE AT THE JOINT COLLEGES

1. The opportunity of having civilian employees attending the joint colleges affords the Department of Defense (DoD) another means of assuring that key civilian personnel are properly equipped to carry out responsible duties in the Department. It is important that the necessary time and attention, including the endorsement of the candidate by a high-level committee, be devoted to the selection of nominees for this purpose, if the Department is to take full advantage of this opportunity. In the selection, the following criteria will be observed:

a. The employee must have an appointment without time limitation and must have a competitive status if employed in the competitive service.

b. The employee selected for the National War College or the Industrial College of the Armed Forces must occupy a position in grade GS-15 or above. In a few instances, employees in grade GS-14 who have demonstrated an exceptionally high potential for advancement may be considered for selection. The employee selected for the Armed Forces Staff College must occupy a position in grade GS-12 or above.

c. Normally, the employee should be in the age bracket of: (1) 35 to 45 years for the National War College and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces; and (2) 30 to 40 years for the Armed Forces Staff College.

d. The employee must have demonstrated a potential for higher level responsibilities in the DoD.

e. The employee must have arrived at a point in his career development where the specific educational opportunity offered by each of the colleges is appropriate and desirable for his future development within the DoD. Careful consideration should be given to the employee's probable future assignments and responsibilities and a judgment made concerning the applicability of the college's program to his development.

f. Because of the extremely broad scope of the college courses, employees nominated should have demonstrated a capacity to adjust themselves readily to a variety of substantial fields, to master complex subject matter quickly, and to appreciate the problems and understand the implications involved in economic, political, technological, administrative, and military planning.

g. One of the learning techniques used by the colleges is small group activity. Employees nominated for attendance at one of the colleges should, therefore, have demonstrated an adaptability for work in small groups as an approach to the educational process.

h. The employee should possess the educational background, maturity, and poise to meet on an equal footing with the other military students (Army, Air Force, and Marine colonels and lieutenant colonels, and Navy captains and commanders at the National War College and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces; Army and Marine Corps lieutenant colonels and majors, Air Force majors, and Navy lieutenant commanders at the Armed Forces Staff College) and civilian students of equivalent rank. Possession of a bachelor's degree or its equivalent has been found to be the normal minimum.

i. The employee must have or be able to obtain clearance for access to Top Secret information.

j. The employee must desire to attend the college.

k. In order for the DoD to profit by the investment in personnel who take a course at one of the colleges, only employees who are expected to be available for further service in the DoD upon completion of the course should be nominated. Therefore, an employee nominated for the course must be willing, if selected, to agree to remain with the DoD for a period of not less than three years upon completion of the course, or for such portion of this three-year period as his services may be required.

1. Deviations from these criteria may be made only in exceptional cases if it is considered to be in the best interests of the DoD, and then only upon approval of head of the DoD component concerned, or his designee for this purpose.

2. In addition to meeting the criteria in 1. above, employees nominated for the National War College must hold a position in, or be associated with or earmarked for association with, an activity in which knowledge of one or more general subjects, such as international affairs, the relation of military policy to foreign policy, military planning, intelligence, joint activities of the Armed Forces, or the general structure and organization of the DoD and other security agencies of the Government, is important.

3. In addition to meeting the criteria in 1. above, employees nominated for the Industrial College of the Armed Forces must hold a position, or have been selected for a later assignment to a position, which entails considerable decisionmaking responsibility in the management of national security resources, including the related economic, social, political, environmental, technological, administrative, and military factors. Further, the employee's position should require him to have an understanding in depth of the principles, policies, operations, and organizations involved in national and international security affairs.
